

nano Spot

A nanometer is one
-billionth of a meter.

Did you know
that your fingernails
grow about a nanometer each second?

By the time this elevator ride is over, your fingernails will have grown about 20 nanometers. You would have to ride the elevator 500 times for your fingernails to grow the width of one red blood cell!

<http://bit.ly/nanofingernails>

Graphics created by the Science Center of Iowa