

Moon Adventure Game

QUICK START GUIDE

Players will work together to solve a series of challenges grounded in real science about living and doing research on the Moon.

This game was designed to be played live and in person by 3–6 participants in a museum setting, with support from a museum educator or volunteer facilitating the game.

- First-Time Assembly section of the Game Guide, with step-by-step instructions and imagery on how to assemble the game components.

Progress Tracker

- The Progress Tracker provides a visual overview of the game. The players can keep track of their progress using a clipboard and pencil.

Facilitator Narrative Script

- The game has a detailed Facilitator Narrative Script, and the intent is that the facilitator will hold this in their hand and read the script aloud to players (it is NOT intended to be memorized). There are tips and hints important to gameplay throughout the script.
- Please read through the Facilitator Narrative Script before reading the Game Guide.
- An Early Childhood Adaptation of the Facilitator Narrative Script has been created for use with younger audiences. The scripts are available in both English and Spanish.

Game Guide

- This comprehensive guide includes all details about the game: audiences, learning goals, set-up, extensions, materials and supplies, tips and trouble-shooting, background information, digital print files, and more.
